LIONS SELL 779 BROOMS IN HOUR MONDAY NIGHT

More than 100 Gettysburg Lions Monday evening sold brooms at the rate of more than a dozen a minute for more than an hour and reported a total of 779 brooms sold for the benefit of the club's Charity Fund.

Receiving calls later in the evening from local folks who were not home when the Lions made their rounds between 7 and 8 o'clock, the Lions announced today that the brooms are available at the Shetter House and at the Adams Electric Cooperative headquarters off N. Stratton St. for the remainder of the week and will go on sale in Lincoln Square Saturday.

Only about 120 brooms remain to be sold. A number of the household necessities were reserved after the sale ended Monday so that only 10 dozens remained.

For Charity Fund

The club received 50 cents out of the sale price for each broom and the money will go into the Charity Fund. The broom money is being specially earmarked to pay for the club's $150 Gettysburg Travel Council road sign and for sending two blind children to a summer camp. Any funds received above those needs will remain in the Charity Fund for future needs.

The brooms were purchased from the York Blind Center and from the students of Guilford College, North Carolina.

The 31 Lions' teams started out from the Shetter House shortly before 7 p.m. after a streamlined meal. Each team of four Lions was given 30 brooms and each was dispatched to a particular section of town. The top record made by any team was a mark of 44 brooms sold by the team captained by Radford H. Lippy and including Glenn Little, Richard Long and John D. Settle. A number of teams topped the initial 30 broom quota.

E. J. Nowicki and G. W. Lefever, chairman of the club committees that handled the broom sale, said they were very much pleased with the way the club members helped with the project and with the "fine reception given our members by the people of the town. They knew it was a worthy cause and they certainly did come through."

Momentous Supreme Court Decision Declares Segregation In Schools Is Unconstitutional; See Vast Problem

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A momentous Supreme Court edict, that segregation of Negro and white children in public schools is unconstitutional, confronted the South and Border states today with vast social and economic problems.

But an actual end to segregation is still months and perhaps years away.

There were those who said it would never come—that by one device or another the South would get around the Supreme Court decision. But others predicted a peaceful, if gradual, compliance.

Delay Final Decree

The court declared unanimously yesterday that segregation "solely on the basis of race" violates the Constitution, regardless of whether schools for Negroes appear to be as good as those for whites.

The court said segregation of itself deprives Negro children of equal opportunities.

The justices tempered the impact of their ruling by holding off a formal decree to put the decision into effect. More arguments were ordered for next fall on how and when the decision should be carried out.

Weighty Problems

So, pressing down on the 17 Southern and Border states where segregation is compulsory are weighty problems of remodeling school systems, reorganizing school districts, readjusting and reassigning teachers, changing school bus routes and building more schools.

If some states or communities or school districts should balk at complying with the Supreme Court decision, they will face a

SOME PREDICT ARMY HEARING WON'T RESUME

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House indicated today there is little or no prospect President Eisenhower will change his order which led Senate investigators to suspend the McCarthy-Army hearings.

From Democratic senators there were predictions the hearings never will be resumed unless Eisenhower does after it, but Republicans disputed that.

The order bans testimony by government officials about talks within the administration concerning the controversy between Sen. McCarthy and Pentagon officials.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee voted yesterday to suspend hearings until next Monday while Chairman Mundt (R-S-D) explores meantime whether Eisenhower might modify his order, denounced by McCarthy as an "Iron Curtain" some one must have "foisted" on the President. McCarthy contended it made it impossible to get at the truth.

Conference Today
Mundt was to begin his efforts with a conference this afternoon (2 p.m.) with Atty. Gen. Brownell who prepared a memorandum of precedents which Eisenhower sent to the senators yesterday along with a copy of his order. The order took the form of a letter to the secretary of defense.

It may be two or three days before the question of altering the order formally reaches Eisenhower.

But reporters at the White House were given to understand there is scant prospect the President will shift his stand in any way.

Asked whether he thought the President might modify or rescind his letter, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty replied: "As far as I know, the President issued his letter yesterday."

A reporter then asked, "was the letter intended to bring the hearings to a stop?"

"Silly Question"
Hagerty: "I can think of nothing that would be a more silly question."

Hagerty announced that Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens would accompany the President to Charlotte, N. C., today for ceremonies attending the observance there of an early declaration of independence by colonial residents of the area.

Hagerty said the President asked Stevens to go along because the ceremonies also mark Armed Forces Week.

At the capital, meantime Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) said he sees no reason why the investigations subcommittee cannot continue its McCarthy-Army inquiry despite the presidential order.

Discuss Impact

Ferguson said the Senate Republican Policy Committee, which he heads, probably will discuss later in the day the impact of the presidential order.

Told that Sen. McCarthy had said it would be impossible for him to "prove" his case under the President's silence ban on some government witnesses, Ferguson said he thinks the investigations committee will have to decide whether that is true or not.

"No one has suggested to me that the investigation be dropped," he said.

W. S. LIVENGOOD DENIES CHARGE OF COERCION

HARRISBURG (AP)—A charge that he allowed coercion of businessmen in his primary campaign was denied today by William S. Livengood Jr., candidate for re-election as state secretary of internal affairs.

Otto F. Messner, Republican primary campaign chairman, last night accused Livengood of making "a last desperate effort to keep his public office by permitting coercion of small businessmen."

"The words might have been uttered by Mr. Messner but I know that my friend Otto doesn't believe what he says," Livengood replied.

Livengood is campaigning against Mrs. Gaynelle Dixon, Butler, the GOP organization choice, for re-election to a fifth term in office. Messner said Livengood permitted employees of his department to write thousands of persons they deal with in an official capacity urging them to keep Livengood in office.

Didn't Write Thousands

"In the first place," Livengood answered, "there haven't been thousands of letters written to anybody and any letters in my behalf were written without regard to the particular business or occupation in which anyone has been engaged."

"I will be willing to put my administration of the Department of Internal Affairs alongside that of Gov. John S. Fine's administration of any of the departments under his control and be content to let the results of today's election abide thereby," Livengood added.

In a statewide telecast the secretary charged the governor had "consistently and continually done everything he could to embarrass and handicap me in the administration of my department."

U. S. Savings bonds have won a "tremendous acceptance" by the general public, Marvin said. There are $37,000,000,000 in series E and H bonds owned by 80,000,000 people in the United States.

Of the $9,000,000,000 worth of E bonds which have matured, 75 per cent are being held by the owners, rather than being redeemer, Marvin added.

Sales of bonds at the present time far exceeds the redemptions, which indicates an increased confidence of the owners and shows an increase in savings. Savings bonds have several values, Marvin said, they help the nation secure the funds it needs, they also help in the development of sound savings programs among the general public, and they help combat inflation. Inflation he described as "like termites eating away at the dollar."

The effects of inflation can be described by the experience of China, he said, where an article costing 25 cents in the days of a

DINNER SERVES FOOD BY TRAIN

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP) — On Detroit's northern outskirts, is a little restaurant which serves food delivered by a miniature train and gives customers their change in a model dump truck. Owner William Brooks is chief cook, waiter and bottle washer.

Sight-seers definitely aren't welcome.

When Brooks started the business in 1938 his first menu mentioned "five cent Cokes for 10 cents and mediocre pie for a quarter." The combination of Brooks, the food and the unique fixtures brought him a rash of sight-seers. In 1944 they crowded out the regular customers by talking more than eating. Brooks connected entrances with an electrical opening and locking system, refused to some patrons and got a club license.

Much of the club's railroad atmosphere is the work of some well-to-do patrons who helped devise the time-saving gadgets. Hamburgers and cups of coffee travel from kitchen to customer via model train. Brooks has no railroad career in his background. He spent 18 years writing and editing advertising copy and factory magazines before the restaurant business beckoned.

When Herb Odom of Michigan State won the NCAA welterweight boxing championship, it was the 11th national ring crown for the Spartans.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

TWO WITNESSES RE-ENACT SCENE OF SHOOTING

WARREN, Pa. (AP)—Two witnesses at the murder trial of Norman W. Moon have testified they ducked for cover the day Judge Allison D. Wade was slain in a Warren County courtroom but said they did not actually see the shots fired.

Moon is charged with shooting to death Judge Wade last Jan. 13 moments after the jurist had called him before the court on charges of non-support of his estranged wife.

Ralph E. Sires, photostenographer and clerk of courts of Warren County, re-enacted the scene yesterday. He showed the jury how he ducked behind a desk to avoid the bullets which whizzed through the courtroom.

However, Sires said he did not see any of the shots fired. Dist. Atty. Meyer M. Kornreich, who said he saw Moon reach down for his gun, also testified he hadn't seen any shots fired.

Hiding In Closet

The district attorney said he was hiding in a small closet just off the courtroom. Kornreich said he was sitting with Moon when Judge Wade called his case. The district attorney testified:

"It was at that moment that Mr. Moon stood up and deliberately opened the right flap of his jacket. I could see the outline of this gun. I saw him start to reach for this gun."

"I immediately jumped up from the chair and ran through the door."

Moon, 26-year-old construction worker from Connellsville, Pa., listened calmly but seemed pale as the state began presenting its evidence. Before the testimony started Moon had heard the prosecution ask for the death penalty.

Moon also heard another witness tell the jury that Moon had purchased a pistol from him the day before the judge was killed. Sgt. Edward Crowthers, a state police specialist in small arms, later testified the pistol fired the bullets identified as those which killed the jurist.

Moon has pleaded innocent to the murder charge. His attorneys have indicated the defense will be based on temporary insanity.

Negroes Will Seek End To Segregation In Hospitals, State Parks And On Beaches

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Negroes now will try to end segregation in places set up with tax funds, such as hospitals, bathing beaches, state parks and public housing.
A representative of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said this effort will be made on a broad front.
The Supreme Court yesterday paved the way for this with its landmark decision outlawing segregation in the public schools of the states on the ground that it violates the 14th Amendment.
Have Been Inching Up
That amendment says all citizens must be treated equally. But for 58 years, until yesterday, no court had said segregation by itself was wrong.
Since 1896 this has been the position of the court: even though Negroes were segregated, there was no violation of the 14th Amendment so long as they received treatment equal to that given whites. The 1896 doctrine was based on segregation in railroad passenger cars.

For years Negroes have been inching toward yesterday's ruling by appealing to the Supreme Court against various forms of segregation imposed on them.
Fought Myth
They had argued over and over, and won case after case, that it's a myth to think segregated Negroes get equal treatment with whites.
But for 58 years the court had never overturned that ruling of 1896 by saying segregation of itself is unconstitutional.
It knocked out segregation on interstate buses and trains but limited itself to saying Negroes were not getting equal treatment on segregated trains and buses.
In 1950 the court said Texas and Oklahoma must let Negroes into their graduate schools but again only on the grounds that Negro graduate schools in those states were not equal to those for whites.
Strategy Followed
With the Supreme Court sticking rigidly to the doctrine of "separate but equal" laid down in the 1896 century, the NAACP felt it had to move slowly in trying to get segregation itself declared unconstitutional.
If it had made its pitch—in the cases of the buses, trains and graduate schools—solely on the grounds that the segregation in-involved violated the 14th Amendment, then—

The court might have stuck to the 1896 decision and thrown out the cases on the grounds that segregation was not unconstitutional. So inch by inch the fight was made to get rid of segregation by arguing that Jim Crow on buses, trains or graduate schools meant unequal facilities.
Much At Stake
Then a couple of years ago the NAACP, together with some Negro and white lawyers not connected with it, took the big step.
It asked the court to rule that segregation of Negro children in public schools—whether or not the schools were as good as the white children's—was unconstitutional by its very nature.
If the NAACP had lost on this gamble its efforts to wipe out segregation in schools might have been set back 10 to 20 years until the mood of the country and the membership of the court had changed.

SECOND SECRET MEETING TODAY ON INDOCHINA

By MAX HARRELSON
GENEVA (AP)—The Western Powers went into their second secret meeting with the Communists today on an Indochina peace. They still hoped to find out whether the Reds would halt the fighting without first seeking a political settlement.
It was generally expected that either Russia's Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov or Red China's Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai would reply to yesterday's Western proposals for a quick cease-fire to be followed by political talks.
The Western plan was submitted to the nine-party conference by France's Foreign Minister Georges Bidault just before yesterday's closed-door session ended.
More Detailed Plans
The proposals were understood to follow closely Bidault's original plan for an Indochina truce but were said to be more detailed.
That plan called for immediate withdrawal of all Communist forces from Laos and Cambodia and the assembly of all troops in Viet Nam into agreed zones.
The only advance indication of the Communist position was contained in Molotov's speech last Friday. The Soviet minister said it would be impossible to halt the fighting without at least some political questions being settled.
Hope For Concessions
Some Western observers, however, thought they detected a conciliatory attitude on the part of Molotov and Chou. They hoped this might lead to Communist concessions.
These sources said the two Communist leaders appeared more tractable than Vietnam Deputy

STEELWORKERS OPEN CONTRACT PARLEYS TODAY

By WILLIAM A. SWARTWORTH
PITTSBURGH (AP)—U. S. Steel Corp. and the CIO United Steelworkers kick off the first major labor negotiations of 1954 today with the big union's bargaining power weakened by a six-month-old slump in the nation's steel industry.
The talks open the USW's new contract drive in the basic steel industry, employing some 600,000 steelworkers. Contracts expire June 30.
An estimated 190,000 steelworkers are idled by layoffs, an additional 257,000 are working only part time and steel mill operations hover around 70 per cent of national rated capacity.
Want To Avoid Strike
This leads observers to believe the union will do everything possible to avoid a strike.
The negotiations are of national importance because:
1. U. S. Steel, the nation's top steel producer, generally sets the pattern followed by other basic producers in their talks with the union.
2. The steel industry is the backbone of the American economy. Steel prices do much to determine the over-all cost of living. It's possible that steel producers may pass any added contract costs on to the manufacturers of autos, refrigerators, stoves and the thousands of other articles made of steel, causing higher price tags.

Bids for the one-story, steel-frame, brick faced structure will be let within a few weeks. The plant will be erected in Loyalsock Twp.
setters of American labor and other union leaders are sure to watch closely what the USW manages to win for its members.
Announced objectives of the USW this year are a guaranteed annual wage, a wage increase, improved hospitalization and pension plans and better terms on such contract items as overtime, vacations and holidays.
David J. McDonald, union president, hasn't disclosed how much of a pay increase the USW seeks for members now earning between $2.14 and $2.24 an hour.
Last year the union won an 8 1/2-cent hourly wage raise. It is expected to settle for less this year.

Cloud Of Uncertainty Hangs Over McCarthy Hearing Plans

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — A cloud of uncertainty hung over the future of the McCarthy-Army hearings today. One thing was sure: President Eisenhower could dispel the cloud. But it seemed doubtful he would choose to do so.

Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) of the Senate Investigations subcommittee arranged an afternoon conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell to discuss the issues.

He was under instructions to seek some modification in a presidential order forbidding disclosure to the subcommittee of discussions strictly within the administration of the row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and high Pentagon officials.

May Never Resume
The order was prompted by refusal of Army Counselor John G. Adams to give details of a Jan. 21 conference Adams said was attended by White House aides and other high officials. McCarthy said it appeared that the charges against him were "conceived and instigated" then.

Several subcommittee members expressed doubt that the hearings, recessed until next Monday, will ever be resumed unless the Eisenhower order is altered.

McCarthy termed the order an "iron curtain" and "this cover-up." Asked by newsmen whether he would refuse to testify in the hearings if the directive stands, replied:

"I would not speculate on what happens in that event."

Seeking The Truth
Mundt said the decision to recess the hearings, voted by the four subcommittee Republicans over the objections of the three Democrats, contains nothing which "even remotely implies a discontinuation of these hearings for good."

The subcommittee is seeking for the truth in an exchange of charges between McCarthy and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides. The Army side has accused McCarthy and two staff employees, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, of using improper pressures to try to win favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine.

Schine was an unpaid consultant to the subcommittee until he was drafted last November. McCarthy, who normally heads the group, has stepped off it for this inquiry.

Charge "Hostage"
McCarthy and his two aides have countered that Stevens and Adams used Schine as a "hostage" in seeking to get McCarthy to call off a hunt for subversives in the Army. They also named Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel.

The recess until Monday was voted yesterday, the 18th day of televised hearings, after Adams refused to testify whether responsibility for the accusations against McCarthy was shifted from Secretary Stevens and him to others' shoulders at the January meeting.

Adams previously had testified that Sherman Adams, top White House assistant to Eisenhower, had suggested then that he write down an account of the Schine incidents. A similar recital was the basis for the Army's formal charges. John Adams said others at the conference were Atty. Gen.

Brownell, Deputy Atty. Gen. William Rogers, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Gerald Morgan, White House aide.

Whatever Brownell's recommendation, it was up to Eisenhower to decide whether he will rescind or alter yesterday's directive, which the President said was based on the constitutional provision for separation of powers between the executive and legislative branches.

SPY DOCUMENTS LIST 2 MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The Petrov spy documents list two and possibly three members of Australia's house of Representatives as having unwittingly given information to Soviet agents, the Royal Commission on Espionage was told today.

The commission's counsel, W. J. Windeyer, made the revelation during the second day of preliminary hearings into the story of Russian spying in Australia told by Vladimir Petrov, former Soviet Embassy third secretary here who quit the Reds and was given political asylum.

The counsel said one of the documents turned over by Petrov related to American and Japanese interests in Australia. He said it was 37 pages long but did not disclose its contents.

Unguarded Remarks
He said one of the two members of Parliament definitely mentioned in the papers as unwitting informants was from the Liberal-Country party government coalition and the other was from the opposition Labor faction.

He did not reveal their names or indicate the importance of the information the Soviets gleaned from what he termed unguarded remarks.

He also said government employees had passed information and copies of documents to agents of the Soviet MVD.

defined the "EKG" or electrocardiography criteria for diagnosis.

Complete heart block was the basic heart muscle lesion or damage in the majority of cases studied up to 1941 and 80 per cent of the cases with complete heart block had Adams-Stokes disease attacks with the onset of ventricular standstill, studies show.

The first case cited by Dr. Sheely from local hospital records was an 83-year-old woman who went to the hospital after a "little stroke." Her blood pressure was up and her pulse was slow. In her first day at the hospital she had 17 brief attacks of unconsciousness. An electrocardiogram showed a complete heart block. She died seven days later and a report of the autopsy is reviewed by Dr. Sheely.

The other patient whose case is reviewed is that of an 89-year-old woman who had a slow pulse, was subject to periods of unconsciousness and an EKG showed complete heart block. In several instances sharp thumping with the fist on the area over the heart cut short the fainting spells. She died suddenly in an Adams-Stokes attack about four months after her admission to the hospital.

"EKG" Is Urged
In his discussion of these cases, Dr. Sheely wrote: "It is strongly recommended that every patient, in the upper age group particularly, found to have a persistently slow pulse be subjected to a complete electrocardiographic study in order to determine the presence or absence of heart block."

sence of heart block."

He noted that while Adams-Stokes attacks may occur with sudden heart block complicated by irregularities of action of the ventricle, they may occur more frequently in patients with partial heart block but not every case of heart block will result in Adams-Stokes disease.

"Conceivably in patients with chronic rheumatic heart disease and damaged heart tissue, the additional condition of hardening of the arteries could jeopardize normal heart action under stress of exercise and thus predispose the patient to an Adams-Stokes attack.

"Although in smaller hospitals the reduction in laboratory and nursing personnel makes it difficult to obtain on-the-spot electrocardiograms, every effort should be made to obtain tracings before and during the attacks to guide diagnosis and treatment," Dr. Sheely emphasized.

FINE CONTROL IN ALLEGHENY BEFORE VOTERS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Republican voters decide today whether the forces of Gov. John S. Fine or those of Dist. Atty. James F. Malone will control the GOP in Allegheny County, second most populous in the state after Philadelphia.

Of immediate concern in the primary is the election of GOP county committee members. The 2,000-odd members will meet next month to pick a county chairman. That'll be the final tipoff on which faction is in the driver's seat.

Thomas E. Whitten, former sheriff, is the present chairman. But Gov. Fine doesn't recognize him. They had a falling out over last year's primary slate.

Malone is aligned with Whitten against Fine and Atty. Hiram Hirsch, the governor's representative in the county.

Malone Accused Fine
The district attorney enlivened the primary fight considerably by charging the Fine administration with macing. Malone said he has evidence state employees had been forced to contribute one per cent of their annual pay to a primary campaign fund for Fine-backed candidates.

Last week Malone got permission from Allegheny County Criminal Court to conduct a special grand jury investigation of the alleged macing. The probe is slated to open Thursday.

L. Pat McGrath fired a counter volley yesterday. McGrath, state workmen's compensation referee and one of Fine's chief boosters, leveled the same charges at Malone.

McGrath filed a petition in Criminal Court charging Malone, while Republican county chairman several years ago, conspired to

FRENCH POUND RED HIGHWAY IN INDOCHINA

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French high command reopened all-out air attacks today on Communist-led Vietnam troops streaming eastward from Dien Bien Phu along a highway neutralized since Friday as a hospital route for rebel wounded.

The French at the same time kept up their efforts to secure resumption of evacuation of French Union troops wounded in the fall of the northwest Indochina fortress which held out 56 days against the rebels.

As the American-supplied warplanes roared out once more against the road leading from Dien Bien Phu toward the vital Red River Delta, a three-man French mission flew by helicopter to Dien Bien Phu this morning to press for rebel acceptance of a six-point evacuation plan, including a French offer to treat and return gravely wounded Vietnamese troops.

Midnight Is Deadline

French broadcasts had told the Vietnam air attack on the 70-mile highway between Dien Bien Phu and Son La—main route toward the Delta—would start again unless the rebels agreed to the French plan by midnight last night.

The high command said no answer was received. At 11 a.m. today bombing of the highway was resumed, a massive assault by B26 and Privateer bombers, and fighters from land and carrier bases.

Son La is 80 miles from the westernmost perimeter of the French delta defenses. These are expected to be the next target of the four Vietnamese divisions which crushed the fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

The French had stopped bombing this highway last Friday after the rebels had agreed to permit evacuation of 753 of the 1,300 to 2,000 French Union wounded caught at Dien Bien Phu when it fell.

Wants Wounded Moved

Rebel Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap insisted that the French must hold their fire on the highway so his own wounded could be moved.

The French contended later Giap actually was using the highway to funnel troops and war materiel toward the Red River delta, seen by the French command as the next big rebel target.

When the French found they could move only 11 wounded in two days by helicopter and small planes, and Giap refused to permit repair of the airstrip to let bigger planes land, the high command said it was no longer bound to hold off its air strikes.

It said that such an airlift would take at least a month and by then Giap could move out all his men and materiel.

Late last night the French commander in chief, Gen. Henri Navarre, broadcast an offer to supply engineers and heavy equipment for putting the shell and trench-pocked Dien Bien Phu runway back into shape on condition that both men and materiel be returned after the operation.

He asked that once the mercy flights were resumed, no ceiling be placed on the number of planes allowed to land and take off.

Navarre pledged the rebel wounded would be returned to the Vietnamese after their recovery.

BULLEIT RULES

had been previously doing that "as a matter of courtesy," the burgess reported at council meeting this month.

Attorney Bulleit's brief noted that Section 12 of the borough ordinance provides for a fine not exceeding $50 for violation of any provision of the ordinance. The "S1 Club" established by the town, by which violators pay a $1 fine when they get a red ticket, "is for the benefit of, rather than a punishment of, thoughtless violators," Bulleit said. The fine, up to $50, and costs are "more appropriate," the solicitor said, for those persons who deliberately tamper with the meters, or "attempt to obtain illegal parking privileges by failure to carry out their duty to operate the meter."

Burgess Weaver added: "Council has set definite time limits for parking in the metered areas to provide a turnover in parking space, thus allowing more persons to use the same space. Technically any-one parking more than an hour in Lincoln Square or more than two hours in the other metered spaces is in violation of the ordinance, even if they have 'fed' the meter at the end of the legal limit. It is not our intention, nor that of council, I feel sure, to impose a hardship on those legally using our metered parking areas, but if everyone cooperated by strict compliance with the time limits, many more downtown shoppers could be provided with parking space."

Let those who need it add it!

Some gasolines today seem to need a helper to work properly. So an additive is put in. We say—let those who need it add it. Amoco-Gas is the premium motor fuel that needs no additive! Amoco-Gas is NATURAL power. It has no additive to increase anti-knock, because it needs none. Amoco's different—and costly—manufacturing processes give Amoco-Gas the highest anti-knock value ever refined into a fuel for motorists. You get SAFE power, too, because Amoco-Gas leaves no harmful metallic deposit. Right now, it's the finest Amoco-Gas in our 44-year history. Amoco-Gas gives you power without penalty.

RED AGITATORS BEING SENT TO LATIN AMERICA

By NORMAN CARIGNAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—American authorities said today they are convinced Moscow has turned loose Communist agitators to foment strife and chaos in volatile Central America.

This belief, U. S. diplomats said, is based on recent developments in Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Honduras and climaxed now by an apparently large shipment of arms to Guatemala from Communist-controlled Stettin, once a German port but now incorporated into Red Poland.

The State Department announced late yesterday that an unspecified quantity and type of arms now are being unloaded from a cargo ship of Swedish registry at the Guatemalan port of Puerto Barrios.

Moscow-Inspired
The announcement said that: "Because of the origin of these arms, the point of their embarkation, their destination and the quantity of arms involved, the Department of State considers that this is a development of gravity."

School Segregation Prohibited By State

HARRISBURG (AP)—Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, said yesterday a U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing school segregation would have no effect in Pennsylvania.

"I don't see how the decision will affect us at all," he told a newsman. "In fact, the school code already prohibits segregation in Pennsylvania schools."

The Supreme Court yesterday decided in favor of outlawing school segregation in schools throughout the nation.

For a number of years the United States has blocked all arms sales to Guatemala. It has repeatedly charged too that Guatemala is the center of Communist agitation in Central America and that its government is "playing the Communist game."

Looking back over unrest in Central America during the past six weeks, American authorities said they believe the signal for this activity came from Moscow late last year.

At that time, they recalled Guatemala's three top Communist leaders visited Moscow.

More than 70 languages and 200 dialects are spoken in Ethiopia.

Wants First Wife
"I did the whole thing for Virginia and the kids," Hilliker told police. "No matter what it costs, it was worth it. And no matter how long it takes, I'm going to come back here. This is my home."

Store officials in Harrisburg said Hilliker was employed under the name of "Robert Sheehan." They said he had given his true name and a Detroit address as reference when he applied for work.

Hilliker told police he won a certificate in mortuary science in 1961 from Wayne University in Detroit. He said he was buying a home and his first wife was expecting their sixth child when he disappeared. Hilliker said bills and worries were too much.

He showed up in Philadelphia. A friend told him he had been divorced. Hilliker told police he married his second wife, Regina, six months after his divorce.

Hilliker said he still loves his second wife. "But I don't think she'll have anything to do with me now."

BURY BISHOP HAFEY TODAY

SORANTON, Pa. (AP)—Thousands of Catholics of the Scranton Diocese today paid final tribute to Bishop William J. Hafey, who died Wednesday after serving as their spiritual leader for 16 years.

A solemn pontifical mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral by Archbishop John F. O'Hara of Philadelphia. The eulogy was by Bishop John F. Deardon, Pittsburgh.

A number of archbishops, scores of bishops and monsignori and hundreds of members of religious orders were among those in the cathedral for the funeral services.

Thousands stood outside the cathedral with bowed heads as loudspeakers carried the service to them. Traffic was roped off for blocks around the edifice and scores of police were on duty to handle the crowd.

A delegation of 30 citizens of Raleigh, N. C., where Bishop Hafey served before coming here in 1937, arrived here last night by plane and attended the services. The Raleigh delegation was headed by the Most Rev. Vincent Waters, present bishop of Raleigh.

Gov. John S. Pine headed the scores of state, county, and city officials present, together with industrial, business and civic leaders.

Ducking stools in which women convicted of being scolds were immersed in water were used in England up to the early part of the 19th century.

ASK RE-SURVEY FOR TURNPIKE'S NORTHERN SPUR

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. John S. Pine yesterday asked the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to make a new survey of a part of the route of its proposed north-eastern turnpike extension.

Pine made the request to Commission Chairman T. J. Evans in order to try to preserve intact the Criss Pines trout hatchery near Weissport, Carbon County.

The governor termed the hatchery "one of the most important breeding centers for fish in the section of the state." The hatchery is a commercial enterprise.

Acted On Request
The governor said he took action on the request of J. Russell Eshback, who is a Republican candidate for the State Senate from Pike County, in today's primary election.

Evans could not be reached immediately for comment, but a commission spokesman said the route of the northeastern extension will not touch on the grounds of the hatchery. He said, however, that some fear previously had been expressed that work, particularly blasting, on the extension might disturb and cause some harm to the fish.

"Engineers are working on the project and will do everything possible to avert harm to the hatchery," the spokesman said.

GUATEMALA (AP)—The chief of Guatemala's armed forces refused to confirm or deny today a U. S. State Department report that arms from Communist-controlled Poland are being unloaded in this country.

Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz told newsmen that Guatemala's constitution prohibits the disclosure of any information of a military nature.
